

International Conference on Methods and Technologies for Learning

Palermo (Italy) from 9th to 11th March 2005.

The aim is to address the main issues concerned with evolving learning methodologies and technologies to support distance learning processes. The main purpose of the conference is to bring together researchers, academicians, professors, educational scientists and technologists in all areas of ICT in education who are interested in exploring methodologies and systems and sharing current research in Education and Training Technologies.

Important Dates

Topics of interest

The topics to be covered include, but are not limited to:

- Online education and training
- Innovative teaching and learning technologies
- Collaborative learning environments
- Navigation strategies and comprehension
- Mobile learning
- Semantic web for e-learning
- Educational portals for web-based education
- Quality issues of distance learning processes
- International projects and international collaboration on e-learning
- Blended education and training
- Learning technologies for primary and secondary schools

- AI and e-learning
- Virtual universities
- Knowledge management and e-learning
- Educational system for people with special needs
- Continuous learning in medicine

Conference Web site: internet web archive http://icmtl.pa.itd.cnr.it/